Jo Lathwood & Paul Blakemore

Well trodden wrong ways

14 September - 26 October 2019

This summer photographer Paul Blakemore and artist Jo Lathwood have been investigating and documenting the cultural, social and geological landscape of East Devon Jurassic coast.

Including sculpture and film, Well trodden wrong ways is an invitation to navigate this remarkable World Heritage Site, unearthing untold stories.

From crumbling rock formations, endangered moths, unusual architecture, and unknown histories, the new commissions question how our choices impact upon us, others and our environment.
